
Cognitive Disability

Student: _____

Date: _____

Mental disability means an impairment that causes a child's general intellectual functioning to be mildly to profoundly delayed. In addition, mild to profound deficits in two or more adaptive skill areas exist concurrently with deficits in academic achievement. In total, these deficits adversely affect a child's educational performance.

Checklist for Determining Eligibility:

- Documentation of significantly delayed intellectual functioning
- Documentation of significant deficits in academic achievement
- Documentation of deficits in two or more areas of adaptive behavior
- Documentation of adverse effect on child's ability to meet classroom demands
- Documentation of need for special education/related services
